

Facilitation Skills

Working effectively with rural communities and farmers

In-person or on-line training

Turning Moment

Conflict Resolution Services and Skills Training

With many years' experience of working with environmental organisations, rural and farming communities, we understand the role and importance of effective and constructive engagement.

This session is designed for anyone who works with community, farming or environmental groups and must engage these groups or individuals effectively in the work of their authority, organisation, team or project.

The Facilitation Skills workshop will:

- ◆ Outline a basic facilitation process that you can use in any situation.
- ◆ Give you a set of basic tools.
- ◆ Give you pointers on dealing with tricky situations.
- ◆ Enable you to conduct better conversations for group engagement.
- ◆ Build your confidence to work with groups of people.

You will learn:

- ◆ How to organise yourself to manage groups of people effectively.
- ◆ Some basic principles on how to use facilitation processes to generate thinking and engage people in complex issues.
- ◆ Tools that engage individuals and help stimulate learning and engagement.
- ◆ An exploration of the factors at play in your own work situation.

You will take away:

A recipe for improving relationships and influencing others more effectively.

New or different ways to think about how to engage the people you work with.

Techniques you can try out.

Workshop practicalities:

- ◆ Full day in-person workshop for up to 16 people.
- ◆ Full day on-line workshop for up to 12 people delivered in two 3-hour sessions.
- ◆ Available via Zoom, Webex or Teams
- ◆ Consultation with your commissioning officer to ensure the training meets your organisation's specific needs
